

Addendum SPC 615: Supported Employment

The provision of contracted, authorized, and provided Supported Employment (SE) services shall be in compliance with the provision of this agreement and the service descriptions and requirements of this section and state certification criteria.

Definition

Supported employment services is the provision of support to participants who, because of their disabilities, need intensive on-going support to obtain and maintain competitive or customized employment in an integrated work setting. Supported employment may also include support to maintain self-employment, including home-based self-employment. Supported employment services are individualized and may include any combination of the following services: vocational/job-related discovery or assessment, person-centered employment planning, job placement, job development, negotiation with prospective employers, job analysis, training and systematic instruction, job coaching, benefits management, transportation and career advancement services. Other workplace support services including services not specifically related to job skill training may also be provided based on the needs of the specific participant served.

Supported employment services may be provided by a co-worker or other job site personnel provided that the services that are furnished are not part of the normal duties of the co-worker or other personnel and these individuals meet the qualifications established below for individual providers of service. Employers may be reimbursed for supported employment services provided by co-workers.

The cost of transportation for a participant to get to and from a supported employment site may be included in the reimbursement paid to the supported employment provider, or may be covered and reimbursed under specialized transportation, but not both. All providers of transportation shall ensure that the provider qualifications for specialized transportation are met.

Personal care provided to a participant during the receipt of supported employment services may be included in the reimbursement paid to the supported employment provider, or may be covered and reimbursed under the waiver service personal care, but not both. All providers of personal care shall meet the personal care provider qualifications.

With regard to self-employment, supported employment services may include: (a) aiding the participant to identify potential business opportunities; (b) assistance in the development of a business plan, including identifying potential sources of business financing and other assistance in developing and launching a business; (c) identification of the supports that are necessary in order for the participant to operate the business; and (d) ongoing assistance, counseling and guidance once the business has been launched (as defined in Wisconsin's s. 1915 (c) home and community based waiver services waivers #0367.90 and #0368.90 required under s. 46.281(1)(c), Wis. Stats.).

Integrated Employment is defined as working for a competitive wage in a community based job (i.e., a job that is not based in a community rehabilitation facility, sheltered workshop or residential long-term care institution for people with disabilities). The employment must be in a work setting where, to the extent the employment typically involves interaction with others, the interaction is predominantly with co-workers or business associates who do not have disabilities or with the general public. Integrated employment includes employment located in a community business, self-employment and ownership of a micro-enterprise with the outcome of earning competitive wages.

Integrated employment does not include employment in enclaves or work crews, volunteering or work center facility-based employment. There are two kinds of integrated employment located in a community business:

Customized Employment is a position in which a vendor individualizing the employment relationship between employee and employer in ways that meet the needs of both. It is based on “discovery” of the skills, strengths, and interests of the person with a disability, and is also designed to meet the specific needs of the employer. Customized Employment relies on a negotiation rather than competitive approach with an employer.

Competitive Employment is a position in which a vendor assists an individual to apply for and fill existing positions in that community business.

Micro-Enterprise is an employment option for a member to own his or her own business with typically less than ten employees; commonly sole proprietorships with limited earning capacity. Micro enterprise can play an integral role in helping individuals with significant disabilities earn income and engage in meaningful activities of their design.

Competitive Wage means a payment for work that is generally equivalent to the payment made to others performing similar work. Competitive wage does not mean commensurate wage or special minimum wage or sub-minimum wage.

Job Assessment determines the person’s ability to access the community, use transportation, to advocate for your needs, care for yourself, to complete daily living skills, and basic daily activities as well as access businesses and identify your strengths, capabilities, work skills, and interests. Services are completed in the community; although some information is gained from interviews with family, friends, and past work relationships and results in recommendations to support you in your search for work and to maintain employment long-term.

Job Development refers to services to develop job openings through direct employer contacts for members who need assistance in their job search. Activities of development include but are not limited to: Assistance completing applications, developing a resume, and practicing interview skills, conducting a job search with employer contacts being specific to each member, and presentation of the member’s individualized portfolio and negotiation with employers.

Job Coaching is a service provided by paid staff to assist members on the job site and also includes assistance with transportation to the job site. This service may be provided from a few days to several months, depending on the needs of the member. Job coaching is not to be used 100% of the time with a member, and should not be expected to continue as long as the member is working. There is an expectation that proper use of job coaching will fade as a member learns the skills of a job.

Group Employment/Enclave is a group of three (3) or more individuals with disabilities working typically through a contract between the business (owner/operator of the business where the work is done) and Provider. The individuals are supported as a group who share support staff and typically are transported to and from the work setting as a group. Participants may or not be paid a competitive wage and may be earning subminimum wage. Interaction is predominately with the other members of the enclave/work crew, rather than with co-workers who do not have disabilities and/or the general public.

Groups shall consist of one (1) Provider staff with no greater than eight (8) members/participants. Team may authorize coverage of member transportation to/from work site; however, Provider travel time is only reimbursable when Provider is transporting members.

Workplace Personal Assistant's (WPA) roll is to provide personal and/or supportive care and follow along services that may be necessary for the member to maintain integrated employment. An individual receiving this service may have a disability and job coach fading to natural supports may not be feasible and the individual is deemed to require on-site supports for a substantial portion of their work hours. The specific services required will be individualized based on the individual's personal care and long term support needs. The WPA is responsible for assisting the individual with disabilities in completing tasks, providing follow along supports and to promote independence at their employment site.
